OVERVIEW

Jack Golbranson is a determined litigation attorney who represents his clients in a broad range of legal matters, including business disputes, construction defects, trust disputes, and more. Jack collaborates with his clients and provides strategic, results-oriented counsel to achieve optimal outcomes.

Prior to joining Hellmuth & Johnson, Jack worked as a civil litigation law clerk, a research assistant, and an intern in the legal and risk analysis departments of a Fortune 500 company. Jack's experiences at small businesses and Fortune 500 companies forges his understanding that there is not a one-size-fits-all approach to legal disputes. By prioritizing his clients' goals and working zealously on their behalf, Jack maximizes the potential for optimal results.

Jack earned his B.A. in Business Administration and Economics from the University of Puget Sound, where he also played for the University's baseball team. He graduated from the University of St. Thomas School of Law, cum laude, where he made the Dean's List three times and received the Dean's Award (highest grade in the class) in "Bioethics."
